Building a National One Health Coordination Platform

- The Ministry of Health is preparing the establishment of a national intersectoral One Health Coordination Platform.
- The initiative aims to strengthen cooperation across the human health, animal health and environmental sectors.
- The platform will support coordination on:
  - zoonotic diseases,
  - antimicrobial resistance (AMR),
  - other health threats of animal or environmental origin.
- The proposed framework is aligned with EU requirements on serious cross-border health threats.

Initial Priorities for the Czech One Health Platform

- Information exchange across sectors
- Joint risk assessment and recommendations
- Data sharing and surveillance cooperation
- Learning from international best practices
